~ A Message From Mayor Dave Morrison ~

Hello fellow Hanwellians! Well, spring has finally sprung. It seems like we had a long winter, but in reality, winter season seems to be getting shorter and milder. Everybody knows that this is not short term, but a result of continual climate change. We all must do our part in reducing our carbon footprint. Easy and inexpensive things for all of us to help towards this goal are recycling, reusing and repurposing. The Capital Region Service Commission has a very informative website that answers a lot of questions and gives information on the blue box/grey box recycling program (<https://www.capitalrsc>).

Be on the lookout for Hanwell's 2nd Annual Community Clean Up. This is an event where residents can clean up litter in their neighbourhood. Dumpsters are being generously donated by Fredericton Dumpster Services. The dumpsters will be located at Hanwell Place and the Upper Kingsclear Fire Station. There will also be a drop off at Station 3, in Island View. This event is scheduled for April 29th.

The Second Annual Hanwell Golf Tournament is scheduled for May 27th at the Kingswood Executive Course. Who will get their name on the trophy this year?

We have some great prizes generously donated by our sponsors, Kingswood Golf, MC Border Security, First Light Distillery and Black Galley Distilling, all local Hanwell businesses. Get a team together and come out and have some fun!

Managing Seasonal Allergies: A Pharmacist's Guide to Relief:

As a pharmacist, I have seen many patients come into the pharmacy seeking relief from seasonal allergies. Seasonal allergies, also known as hay fever or allergic rhinitis, are a common condition that can cause a variety of uncomfortable symptoms, including sneezing, runny nose, itchy eyes, and throat. These allergies occur when the body's immune system reacts to substances in the air such as pollen, grass, and mold. Several over-the-counter medications are accessible at the pharmacy to manage seasonal allergy symptoms.

Antihistamines, such as loratadine and cetirizine, function by blocking the histamine created by the body when exposed to allergens. Nasal corticosteroids like fluticasone and mometasone can also minimize inflammation in the nasal passages and alleviate congestion. Patients may also use saline nasal sprays or washes to flush out allergens from their nasal passages. I always encourage patients to take an active role in managing their seasonal allergies. By understanding their triggers and using the right medications and techniques, patients can significantly reduce their allergy symptoms and enjoy the beauty of the seasons without discomfort.

Being Inspired by Nature

By Debby Peck, Councillor for Ward 5

Back in 2015, when Hanwell Rural Community councillors were deciding upon a logo for their newly incorporated local government, they all realized that their daily lives unfolded in a natural space. It seemed that local area residents agreed because the winner of a Council sponsored logo contest admitted that it was Nature and the forests of Hanwell that influenced his ideas for the competition. Hence the logo choice: Inspired by Nature.

Today, with two new wards, additional councillors and staff, the inspiration continues. What will that mean for all of us, here in our new entity? Everything in Nature is connected, just like the six wards in Hanwell Rural Community. The living things in nature work together, always moving through cycles of activity and rest, always adapting to challenges for themselves and their families, seeking new opportunities, and trying their best to play their part in the circle of community.

The natural world has challenges just like residents and those who have been elected as leaders of our municipality. Communication and cooperating occurs between critters in an ecosystem. Dialogue and listening happens between Councillors and residents. It is all about balance and being progressive in sustainable ways. Municipal reform has been challenging. Change brings doubts. Doing things differently, be it because of need or desire, is scary. But inspiration from Nature encourages us to keep moving forward with an open mind and patience.

Sharing Talents in Hanwell Rural Community

A Story by Ross Mathers

Last fall, when a large tree in his front yard was damaged in a windstorm, Island View resident, Ross Mathers, went searching for a way to keep the Maple as a treasured focal point in his front yard. Could the three-meter-high tree trunk be transformed from a ragged eye-sore to an attractive piece of lawn art?

Luckily, the impressive chainsaw skills of a Starlite Village resident, presented a solution for Mathers. In very short order, Romeo Poitras, turned the unsightly stump into an impressive carving that included a hummingbird on the top, six flowers representing the Mathers' six grandchildren, some mushrooms, a birdhouse, and several other features.

The finished carving was burned in several places to provide accents. A small amount of black paint was used to emphasize several lines. Three coats of a preservative were then applied to protect the outdoor masterpiece from weathering. The project was the first actual tree carving completed by Poitras, who usually works on chain saw art in his shop. Good ideas and creative recycling turned into an unusual and unique landscape feature, which is full of meaning for the Mathers family. Hanwell Rural Community residents have many talents to share.

Our Easter Eggstravaganza was a great day for the kiddos! Thank you to the council members and the Easter Bunny, who helped make our Easter event a success, once again!

News From the Redemption Centre

There is exciting news to share about recycling in Hanwell Rural Community.

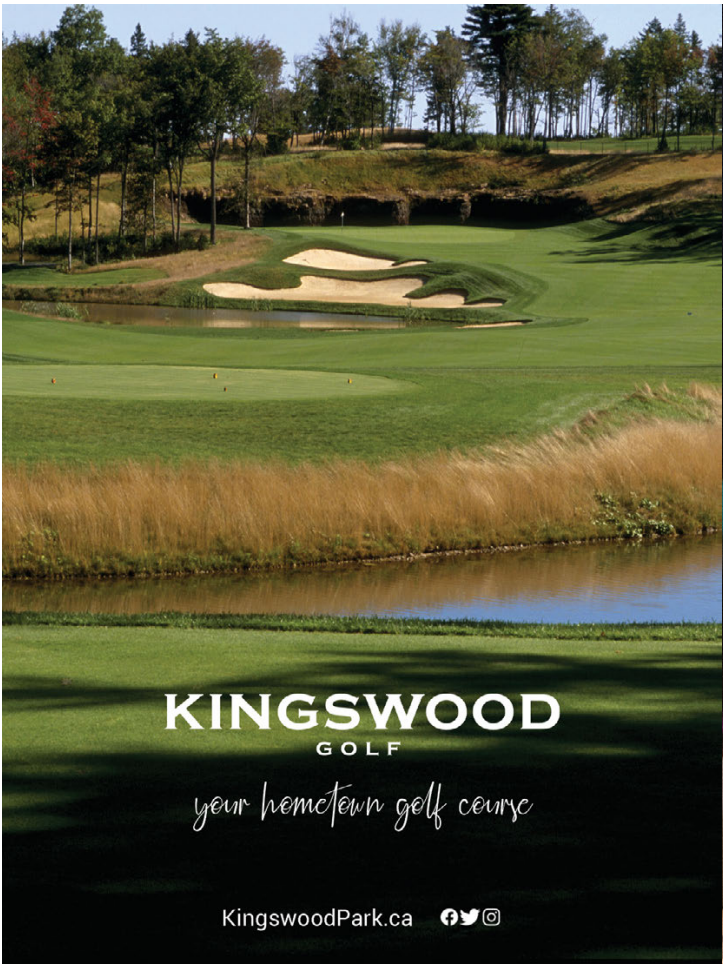

First off, for residents who have always cringed a bit when tossing an empty glass jar into the garbage bin, recent changes in provincial recycling regulations give people the chance to keep glass out of the local landfill. For years, there were no alternatives because of low or no market value for empty, non-refundable glass food containers in New Brunswick. The materials went directly into the landfill rather than being moved through the blue box program to the recycle centre. Then a pilot project started in Oromocto to accept food grade glass empties at a partnering redemption centre. The program's success resulted in it being adopted at other locations province-wide, including the Hanwell Industrial Park.

Wanda Hood-Pottle is Operations Manager, at the Southside Redemption Centre, one of the new glass recycling project locations. "People have told us how much they wanted a program like this", she said. Her operation now accepts drop-offs of non-refundable glass jars and bottles, at 70 Timothy Avenue South, Hanwell Rural Community, as well as at all the company's other locations in the Fredericton Area.

Glass recycling is simple and easy to do, but a few conditions apply for this new project. Most important is that the food grade glass containers and/or bottles must be in a separate bin or box from refundable beverage containers. The non-refundable glass must be clean inside and out, but the labels can be left on. Caps or lids are not accepted, nor is cookware, ceramic, Pyrex, or window glass. "Just give us a call or check our website if you have questions", says Hood-Pottle.

Another bit of news about recycling is for residents and clubs or organizations in Hanwell Rural Community, who try to raise funds by collecting redeemable beverage containers. There is a drive-through service offered now, which makes it much more convenient for volunteers to use. "Just call 506-450-9247 to register", Hood-Pottle recommends, "or check our website: southsideredemption.com". Once a group gets a registration number, they will need to put that number on all of the bags of redeemables left at the redemption centre's drive through door. "We will process the bags the next day and send payment via e-transfer" explains Hood-Pottle. Recycling just got much easier for Hanwell Rural Community residents.
